Skin & hair after 40.

A simple guide to what to do next.

START WITH A SIMPLE SKIN ROUTINE

- [ ] In the morning

  Use a mild face wash. Apply moisturiser. Before going outside, use broad-spectrum SPF 30+ sunscreen.

- [ ] At night

  Wash gently and moisturise again.

- [ ] Thinking about retinol?

  Ask your doctor if it suits your skin. Do not use it during pregnancy.

Remember to reapply sunscreen.

When outdoors, reapply every 2 hours, and after swimming or sweating.

Noticing more hair fall?

Get the cause checked before trying another product.

- [ ] Notice what has changed
  More hair in the shower? A wider parting? Hair breaking easily? Note when it started.
- [ ] Show your doctor what you use
  Include medicines, hair products and any supplements you take.
- [ ] Find out the cause
  Hair loss can have different causes. A dermatologist can help identify yours.

Before buying biotin or collagen

Ask your doctor if you need a supplement. Tell them if you take biotin. It can affect some blood-test results.

Take these questions with you.

Choose the questions that matter to you.

1. What could be causing my skin or hair changes?
2. What should I keep or change in my daily routine?
3. Would retinol suit my skin?
4. Do I need any tests or supplements?
5. How long might it take to see improvement, and when should we follow up?

Understand your body better.
